St. Lucie County Fire District celebrates World Health Day on its Facebook Page

St. Lucie County, FL – As part of World Health Day, April 7, the St. Lucie County Fire District has posted a series of Health Hints for residents. The goal of the Facebook account is to keep readers informed about health, as well as public safety issues.

The Facebook page, begun in August 2009, can be found on the St. Lucie County website – www.slcfd.com – in the lower right side of the home page. Become a fan, and you will get daily helpful hints. The Facebook page currently has 954 fans.

“We want the community to know that our website, along with our other social media, is a great source of health and public safety information,” said Ron Parrish, Fire Chief of St. Lucie County Fire District. “This is very useful information and is updated daily.”

The Fire District also has a daily blog and a twitter account to help better communicate with residents. The blog can also be found on the webpage, just click on “news” on the left side. The blog received 1965 hits in March. The twitter account is slcfirefly. The Fire District has 30 followers on their twitter account.
